Joney Clubrules will open at Bennings. The passage of the Bartlett bill for the appointment of a Racing Commission by Congress is expected before the beginning of the meeting, and, should t become a law, the effect will be to give stability to the sport in the District of Columbia. The opponents of the measure say that if the advocates of the bill are sincere in their claim that they wish to prevent all bookmaking thes will consent to an amendment striking out the clauses mentioning bookmaking on the ground that the existing laws against gambling are satisfactory. The probabilities favor the passage of the bill. The direct result will be a revival of high-class racing at the national capital.

The coming meeting of the Washington Jockey Club, the first held at the Bennings track in five years, is attracting much attention from the prominence of the men at the head of affairs and the liberal scale on which the arrangements and the programme have been made. It is said that the improvements at the track have made the course as complete in its appointments as any in the East, and hundreds of Washingtonians were at Bennings yesterday to note and marvel at the changes. All the filling up the stables nearby. Percy Welch. who arrived on Saturday, with Convright, Phorbus, and a string of two-year-olds, was comselled to take his charges over to Ivy City. Among the strings at Bennings are those of the Riemton Stable, C. H. Smith, J. J. McCafferty, P. Burch, who also has charge of the Broad Hollow Stable; William Jennings, Peter Shields and James McLaughlin, A. H. and D. H. Morris, W. C. Daly, P. J. Dwyer, and others are expected soon, and until the eve of the meeting horses will arrive in an uninterrupted stream. The opening card contains five races, three being overnight events as follows: Five furling dash, purse $300, for three-year-olds and upward; two-year-old selling race, purse $350, at one mile. The other events will be the filter and foray Handicap, purse $800, for three-year-olds and upward; purse $300, at one mile. The other events will be the filter and Gray Handicap, purse $800, for three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs, with nineteen eligible, and the Easter steeplechase, purse $800, about two miles, with fourteen eligible to start, among them being Wheeler, Firebrand, Duke of Abercorn, Runyon, Lucknow, Daly, and Brookdale. The weights for the Blue and Gray will be announced on Wednesday. The Blemton Stable is represented by Dorian, who will undoubtedly be top weight, and the flying filly Floretra IV. Among the others entered are Buckrene, Owlet, Paladin, Doggett, and Kallirhoe, a quintet engaged also in the Washington Handicap, to be run on the last day, at a mile and a sixteenth, in which Buckrene, 112; Owlet, 109, and Dogget, 107, have the highest weights. W. C. Daly has two in the Blue and Gray, Hurlingham and Emotional; W. Jennings has two, Ina and Hawarden, and R. Hradley has Sir John, Mrs. Stewart and Milton T.

The feature of Monday's card will be the first stake of the Northern sesson for two-year-olds, the Arlington, purse $1,000, at half a mile. Forty-four horses are entered. J. J. Holma seems to be in the pink of condition, despite the stories sent out from Cincinnati, since his arrival at Morris Park. St. Maxim is also in fine fettle, and, as Taral will ride one of them, Fleishman & Son should have a strong chance for the Metropolitan. Holma is the most leniently treated four-year-old in the Brooklyn and Suburban handleaps, for on form last year he was very close to Keenan, who allows to the son of Hanover four pounds at Gravesend and five at Sheepshead Bay. In the Metropolitan, however, Holma concedes weight to everything in the race except Henry of Na-

Gravesend and five at Sheepshead Bay. In the Metropolitan, however, Holma concedes weight to everything in the race except Henry of Navarre and Dorian.

One firm offering odds on the Brooklyn and Suburban, has taken the hint printed in The Sun on March 31, and gives both liberal odds and references as to financial solvency. A concensus of the odds offered in the different books shows that Henry of Navarre, Clifford, Sir Walter, Halma, Keenan, and Nanki Pooh are the favorites in the order named, at prices ranging from 3 to 1 Henry of Navarre, to 12 to 1 Nanki Pooh. The odds against the others run from 15 to 1 all the way to 200 to 1.

THOROUGHBREDS DO STRONG WORK

Trainers Send Their Charges Along it Fine Style at the Long Island Tracks, The ideal spring weather of yesterday drew the largest crowd of visitors seen this year at the Long Island racing enclosures. The tracks were in superb condition, and trials were to be seen until late in the afternoon. A novel feature was the great number of cyclists that rode in from the Boulevard to the track to watch the horses at their work. There must have been fully one to two hundred wheelmen at the Gravesend track, and the line extended down the backstretch, that portion of the track adjoining the cycle path on the Ocean parkway. A murmur could be heard among them as the mighty Handspring came on the track with Patrician, Declare, and Long Beach. The son o Hanover neighed, snorted, and pranced in his preliminary canter, which was strong. P. J. Dwyer made his appearance, and Handspring

Dwyer made his appearance, and Handspring cantered to the three-furiong pole, where he broke away and ran to the wire in 39 seconds. He was foliowed in Indian file by Long Beach, Declare, and Patrician.

The youngsters in P.J. Dwyer's stable then recisel of quarters in 29 seconds.

Father Hill Daly sent Hurlingham, Emotional, and Volley six furiongs in 1:21%. Capt. T., Factotum, and others of the string did sharp work. Full Nevins sent Honolulu a half mile in 33 seconds, the two-year-old Sir Moltke falling out at the three furiong distance, J. V. Elliott sent Shelly Tuttle six furiongs in 1:20. Gus Hannen sent Montezuma half a mile in 56 seconds. Knox & Singerley's colt by Luke Blackburn covered half a mile in 59% seconds. John McCabe, Henry Harris, and others put their charges through the mill in lively style. Old Chesaceake galloped a quarter mile in 28 seconds.

At Sheepshead Bay track Albert Cooper was at Sheepshead Bay track Albert Cooper was Bay with Stephen J., Aurelian, and Rosedale of the older horses. The former covered a mile n 1:57 very handily. The Keene youngsters worked in tries and quartets. They breezed parters averaging from 27 to 30 seconds. Sanatans, the leviathan colt by imp. Candlebas Heile of Maywood, pleased onlockers best. The fillies, however, are in a majority it the stable, and it is safe to say their like has never been seen in any one stable in this country.

Dever been seen in any one stable in this country.

Matt Byrnes advanced a peg in the work of the Marcus Daly horses. Senator Grady, Primrose, and Bote did a very smart mile. The youngsters looked pretty working in Indian Rie. They are high in flesh as yet, but when fit and well they will take their place in the front tank of two-year-olds. J. Kneale worked Agister, Irish fixel, and Pickpocket strongly.

At Brighton Beach, the old track by the sea has at length heen harrowed and but in fine slape by Superintendent Clare. William Lakeland and his krand-looking string were the star attractions there vesterday.

While many trainers can boast of fine-looking youngsirs, not many can show a stable of older horses to compare with Lakeland's. Ajaz. Gotham, Counter Tenor, King Arthur II. Emma t., Manchester, Gold Creat, and Barytone II. are all goms of the first water. They all did steellent work year-order, and their splendid appearance was a sight worth the Journey to Bright of the Broad Mary Castelle.

Loxa Branch, April 12.-The track at mouth l'ark is in excellent condition. None of the cracks now in training have worked faster than 1:57 for the mile, which was made yesterday by Tinge, owned by L. AT CHURCHILL DOWNA. Hen Brush Against the Field for the Kee

Louisville, April 12.—Speculation on the Kentucky Derby is rife. The question is whether Ben Brush will start or not. This doubt seems to have been removed by a letter from Mike Dwyer to Eugene Leigh, in which he says that he will come certainly with Ben Brush, and that he is a sure starter. In that case it is Be Brush against the field at big odds on. Mike Dwyer has a thousand on him at 4, which with the stake of $6,000 will make the winning a very neat one. Since Rockwood's start in the Tennessee Derby, where he got away ninth and finished fourth, he has won some admirers, and is thought by a few who have backed him to have a chance. The odds have been cut from 50 to 25 as a result of the play.

The favorable weather during last week has been welcomed by the horsemen at the downs, and with another week of sunshine some really good work may be looked for. In the rush and good work may be looked for. In the rush and hurry to get off to Newport some of the colts were prepared in slush and snow, but very few owners were willing to take risks. Hyron Mc-Cleiland is at work with his string, though he says he has not been able to get a line on them yet. He has seventeen in all, as follows:

Cessarian, b. c., 4, by Faustus—Ceopatra: Prince Liu, ch. c., 3, by Ring Eric—Elemi; Ninrod, b. c., 3, by String Eric—Elemi; Ninrod, b. c., 3, by String Eric—Elemi; Nonrod, b. c., 3, by String Eric—Liu, ch. c., 3, by Hradford—Eles Rosalind; Fred Barr, b. c., 3, by Unondaga—Glen Catharine of Navarra, ch. f., 3, by Knight of Ellerslie-Moss Rose; Macco, b. c., 4, by Sir Dixon—Katydid, Gomez, b. c., 4, by Knig Eric—Auricilette; The Frince's Opat, ch. c., 4, by Prince Royal—tipal; Goldite, b. c., 2, by Bermuda—Hindoowelf; Silverite, b. c., 2, by Hermoda—Franas, Robalf, br. c., 3, by Rotherell—Merry Mainen; Cavaliry, b. c., 5, by Cavalier—Water: Fra Francisco, cb. f., 8, by Deceiver—Lizzie Montrose.

Cavairy, b. c., 2. by Cavailor—Wafer: Fra Francisco, ch. ft., & ty Deceiver—Lizzie Montrose.

It is doubtful if Clesarian will race much this season. He went lasme last year and had to be fired. Though he seems to be improving. Trainer Williams is doubtful about him. Prince Lief and Nimrod will most likely start in the Oakley Derby and Latonia Derby. McClelland has no entry in the Kentucky Derby. From Louisville he will go to Lexington, then he will return to Louisville. Then he will go to Oakley and Latonia, and nossibly to Detroit. From the latter place he will go to Sheepshead Bay.

Trainer F. W. Gerhardy is working to get the Baker & Gentry stable in condition. The best one in that lot is Fleishmann, a two-year-old full brother to Simon W. by Harry O'Fallon—Lady Royster. He has attracted much attention from turfmen. This season he will race through the West, and has been agtensively entered in the two-year-old stakes. Fleishman is a fine-looking colt, and has shown so well in triais that he is looked on by his stable as the coming two-year-old.

Good Advice, Baker & Gentry's Derby entry.

Good Advice, Baker & Gentry's Derby entry, is a full brother of Free Advice, the first horse to beat Halma last year. He is by Leonaus—Eva S., the dam of Rudolph, Abe Furst, a black two-year-old, bears a striking resemblance to Domino, and shows many of the qualities of that great horse. He is by Bohemia—Briar, and is one of the likeliest in the two-year-old form. He is entered in the stakes and is going well. Auvil Baker has been engaged to ride for Baker & Gentry.

FIGHTING.

Skelly Defents Burge in Six Rounds at the Brighton's Tourney. The feature of the Brighton A. C.'s show in Schiellein's Assembly Rooms, Atlantic avenue, near Vermont street, Brooklyn, on Saturday night, was an eight-round bout between Jack Skelly of Brooklyn and Jack Burge of Mount Vernon. The boys were to meet for eight rounds, but the police, owing to the late hour, refused to permit them to contest more than six rounds. Burge proved to be a clever ducker and took a hard punching. It is doubtful if Skelly's warmest admirers ever saw their favorite in better trim. He went at his opponent in a businesslike way, stopped Burge's opening rush with his left hand, and drove his right into Burge's wind. He closed the round with a lightning-like rally.

In the second round Burge rushed Skelly and landed a stinger on his head, but Jack only grinned and landed left and right, drawing the blood from Burge's nose with a right-hand smash and landing a back-hander in Burge's eye as the man from Mount Vernon ran into a clinch. The next round was slightly in favor of Burge would go out. Skelly landed a left-hand jab in the face and the right in the wind. Then he hit Burge hard on the nose with a righthe hit Burge hard on the nose with a right-hander that sent the latter to the ropes for wind. Hurge lasted through the round, however, and although he landed three fairly clean hits he was very tired when the gong rang. It was all Skelly's fight from this time out. The bout ended in a smart stand-up rally, and when "Sparrow" Robertson, the referee, announced that Skelly had won a mighty cheer went up. Skelly's backer offered to make a new match with Burge to fight eight or ten rounds at 122 pounds, weigh in at the ring side, for any amount. Burge accepted, but no forfeit was posted.

amount. Burge accepted, but no forfeit was posted.
The opening bout was for four rounds at 110 pounds, between Billy Richmond and Eddie Wicherdtt. The former won in the second round, Wicherdtt being counted out. The first of the special fights was between Engene Wilkins of East New York and Billy West of Brooklyn, for eight rounds at 160 pounds, Wilkins punched his man out in the fourth round with a right-hander on the jaw. Jack Kenney of East New York and Jimmy Ryan, Bridge A. C., followed for eight rounds at 140 pounds. pounds. Kenney fouled his man repeatedly, but be got the decision. Charley Hildt and Eddie Blakeney fought eight rounds at 145 pounds, it was for the championship of the Ninth ward of Brooklyn. Hildt won.

The Greenwood's Boxing Show There were three good fights and an exhibition bout at the Greenwood A. C.'s show in South Brooklyn on Saturday night. The first "go" was between Eddle Curry and Jack Spies, both of this city. It was pretty even all the way through, and the referee had to declare it a draw. The second bout was between Mike Moss of Newark and Jack Collyer of Rockaway, who took the place of Jack Hess, he having sent word to the club that he was looking for something easy. The bout was a fierce one and a surprise to the crowd, who expected to see Hess make short work of Collyer. The latter showed up strong all the way through, and several times nearly had lioes out. They went the full eight rounds, and Collyer got the decision. An exhibition of four rounds then took place between Chuck Couners and the "Haciem Lauplighter."

In the star bout Jack Gorman was booked to meet Alf Hanlon of England. Gorman appeared on the platform to show that he had crysligelas. He could not box, and Maxle Kane took his place. The number of rounds was changed from ten to six, but they were all red-hot ones. Harlon was a great deal the cleverer, but he lacked steam, and Kane was too strong to be stopped. They fought the full six rounds, and the referee had to call the bout a draw. Collyer of Rockaway, who took the place of Jack Kings County A. C. Glove Bouts, The Kings County A. C. of Brooklyn held its inaugu ral boxing show at the new Brooklyn Turn Hall, Sumpter street, near Saratoga avenue, on Saturday night. The stellar event on the programme did not occur, as it was explained that Charley Dana of New occur, ash was explained that charry panel of New York, who was to have met Joe Hopkins, was over weight, and Hopkins refused to fight him under those conditions. George Nash and W. Draycott were sub-stituted. They fought six rounds at each weights. Nash showed his superiority early in the fight and won. Nash shower has superiority very in the light and won.

Tommy Barrett and Harry Myers followed in a hout of six rounds at 119 pounds. Myers rushed his man and the superiority of the expension of the superiority of the expension of the was rather astonished and the last round Barrett rushed him and landed right and left handers galore. Harrett's great raily had its effect for the referee called the fight adraw. The next right was for six rounds, at 12s pounds, between Eddie McGowan and Tommy Carr. The latter punched his man so bard about the face and wind that in the third round McGowan was knocked down and out.

Johnson Holds Handler for Four Rounds, PHILADELPHIA. April 13.-Jimmy Handler of Newark and Charley Johnson of this city, welter weights, boxed four rounds at the Art A. C. last night. The contest was one of the cleanest ever witnessed in this city. Johnson had a slight advantge in reach, but Handler was in the better con-dition. At the call of time the men got right to dition. At the call of time the men got right to work, Handler doing more leading. He seemed to have confidence in his ability to best Johnson, but the latter gave back as good as he received. Handler changed his tastics and began to swing his left, but he was wild, and few of his blows reached the intended spots. Meanwhile Johnson kept jabbing his left into Handler's face and sending his right to the heart in an effective way. This siye of boxing was kept up throughout. No decision was announced, but a draw woud have been just to both

BROOKLYN HORSEMEN GETTING READY FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

Growing Interest in the Inter-club Wagon Races-E. T. Bedford Will Bonate a Cup for the 2:16 Trotters-J. P. Dingee Bays Mark Twain-What Trainers Are Doing.

Brooklyn road drivers are busy at present getting their horses ready for the inter-club cup races, which will begin the first Saturday in May at the half-mile track of the Parkway Driving Club. Amateur sport with the trot ters is popular among horsemen on the other side of the big bridge, and the indications are that the members of the Parkway Club will furnish a lot of starters in the series of races to wagon between the road horses of New York and Brooklyn. There is talk about changing the rules in such a way as to limit the starters in each class to three or four representatives from either club, these representatives to be selected in a series of preliminary trials.

A great deal of interest centres in the pros sective contest for the challenge cup offered for horses of the free-for-all class. E. T. Bedford is getting Gillette, 2:114, in trim to start for this trophy, and club men are confident that the fast black son of Cyclone will hold his own against all comers from New York. Glilette has trotted the Brooklyn track in 2:13%; and has thus far beaten every trotter that attempted to measure strides with him on his own ground. The horse is in fine form this spring, and he receives sharp exercise every day on the Coney Island driveway. Cobwebs. 2:12, is the horse relied upon by New York roadmen to win the cup. The Fleetwood con tingent saw his owner, Nathan Straus, drive the chestnut trotter a half mile in 1:06, to road wagon, last year, and they say that if Gillette can beat him Brooklyn may then claim to have the fas:est road horse in Greater New York.

The inter-club programme, as arranged, forces all horses having records of 2:23 or better to start in the open race against Gillette, Cobwebs, and others of like speed, no Intermediate class having teen made between the free for-all and the 2:24 class. Some Brooklyn horsemen were lamenting the lack of such a class last Saturday at the Parkway club house, when E. T. Bedford said that he would donate a cup to be trotted for by horses eligible to the 2:16 class. The race for this trophy will be to road wagons, with the number of starters limited to three from each club. Mr. Bedford's big mare Wanda, 2:214, is likely to be one of the Brooklyn represents tives, although the new class is five seconds faster than the one in which she properly belongs. East View, 2:154; Keno F., 2:154; Waco, 2:1614; Jube, 2:18; Black Ide, 2:17 Clay Herr. 2:16%, and Mark Twain, 2:17%, are some of the prospective starters. Mari Twain is a newcomer among Brooklyn road Miss Alice, 2:134; Billy A., 2:134, and other good ones, having recently purchased the horse in Kentucky. He is a big, powerful, stronggoing bay gelding, by Marquette, 2:20, that gained a record of 2:17% in his three-year-old form last year. WHEELING. Hosts of Riders Abroad Yesterday -Plan to

Good weather and excellent roads afforded the bicycle riders every chance to indulge in Central Park and the Boulevard were crowded with riders from early in the morning until long after dark, while is Brooklyn and around the New Jersey riding district cyclists were counted by the hundreds. The clubmen were particularly active. Threatening weather has necessitated the post ponement of several runs early this year, so that big crowds attended the weekly fixtures yesterday. A dozen members of the Manhattan Bicycle Club visited Garfield, incharge of Capt. R. G. Betts. Members of the Harlem Wheel men took a run to Ridgewood, the Linwood Wheelmen pedalled to Plainfield, and the Triumph Wheelmen to Bergen Point. Several clubs held outings up to Yonkers and beyond Tarrytown. The Century Wheelmen went to Mount Vernon, the Knickerbocker Wheelmen and the Olympic Wheelmen of Brooklyn to Yonkers, the Excelsior Cycle Club to Kings bridge.

The need of an additional bicycle path in Brooklyn was made manifest yesterday by the crowded condition of the pathway from Prospect Park to Coney Island. Riders going to and from the Island were crowded dangerously close together, and the construction of a return cycle path will be a big relief to patrons of the over path will be a big reflet to partons of the route.

A Brocklyn park policeman said that the crowd of riders cut yesterday equalled any previous muster that he could remember seeing either in Prospect Park or on the Boulevard.

The Brocklyn Bicycle Club men took a run to Stillwell's, at Gravesend Bay. The Kings County, Wheelmen went to Hath Beach, while the Long Island Wheelmen went out to College Polat. The Liberty Wheelmen went to Freebort, the Lincoln and Williamsburgh riders to Bay Side, and the Cyclone Wheelmen to Hempstead. The Catholic Club Cyclers of Jersey City took

The Catholic Club Cyclers of Jersey City took a run to Nutley. A large crowd of members of the Atalanta Wheelmen of Newark rode to Boonton. The official club run of the East Orange Cyclers was to Singau. The Essex County Wheelmen went to Mount Bethel. Some of the club riders out yesterday were:

The members of the league are discussing the advisability of having the organization adont some means for the recovery of stolen bleycles. President Elliott says:

"Many members of the league have written to our official organ asking whether the grganization could adopt some practical means of recovering stolen wheels. I would say that I have been for some time negotiating with a responsible concern with a view to securing this protection at a greatly reduced rate, and the result is an entirely satisfactory arrangement, which will enable league members to feel that their wheels are protected against their for the low price of $1 a year. For obvious reasons the league could not enter into any business of this sort, but we have made arrangements with a Chicago association to issue policies to lengue members at hair the regular rates."

The road officers of the Pequod Club Wheelmen of Brooklyn have decided to hold a double century to Patchogue and Sag Harbor on May 30.

The Hrooklyn Bieyele Club will held its annual election of officers to-morrow night.

The road racing team of the Kings County Wheelmen is considering a team race with the Union Cycle Club of Boston.

The Red Bank Wheelmen have elected the following officers: President, William H. Houston; Vice-President, Amos S. Borden; Secretary, Peter T. Brady; Assistant Secretary, F. Cullington: Treasurer, J. D. Throckmorton; Captain, James T. Dougherty. The club has decided to join the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island.

The Mount Vernon Wheelmen will award medials to all members riding 3,500 miles during the season.

RACE WAR IN LOUISIANA.

A WHITE RULE OF TERROR IN THE PARISH OF ST. LANDRY. The Outcome of Academ Hatred of the Blacks The Struggle of the White Su-

Premacists to Prevent the Negro from Voting Mas Led to a Series of Murders, NEW ORLEANS, April 10 .- Most of the interest in the approaching State election, which comes off on April 21, has centred in the Acadian parish of St. Landry. Some acounts of the campaign there have been published, but after all they give but a feeble picture of the demoralization existing. There have been nine persons killed already on account of the political troubles, fourteen shot more or less seriously, and perhaps 300 whipped-and whipped severely. The parish priest of Port Basec has been driven out of the parish. A hundred houses and stores have been fired into and riddled with bullets, to discourage their occupants from registering and voting. As might be expected, business is stagnant throughout the parish. All immigraion and there has been a large immigration there of late years has ceased; the plantations have stopped labor because the negroes are too frightened to work. Many of the negroes, ineed, have given up the habit of sleeping in their cabins, and prefer the canebrakes. St. Landry is an armed camp, and contains more ritles, shotguns, and pistols than any county of the same population in the world. Both factions have been buying arms and ammunition in this city for weeks. Both have irsenals in Opelousas, where guns are stored ready for a moment's notice. The Regulators or White Supremacists, as the Fontenot, fac-tion are called, are better organized. They have their companies, are thoroughly armed, and all mounted, for every St. Landrian is a centaur, and have three or four cannon. One of their meetings is a novelty in political campaigns in this country, for it is startling to see 800 men, all on horseback and carrying rifles on their shoulders, with a couple of cannon in the background.

The situation in St. Landry has grown so serious lately that both the civil and religious authorities have interfered to restore order, but without effecting any permanent good. The Governor ordered the Washington Artilery to Opelousas, the seat of justice. They have preserved order in the town itself, but the Regulators have continued their inroads into the neighboring districts, and the same acts of violence have been committed as here tofore.

When Father Malluchet, parish priest of Port Barre, was run out of St. Landry by the regulators for denouncing the murder of one of his parishioners by them. Archbishop Jans sens interfered, spoke very strongly of the St. Landry lawlessness, and called upon the authorities to suppress it, notwithstanding the fact that the people of St. Landry are as unanimously Catholic as any in the world, and evout Catholics at that, the partisan and devout Catholics at that, the partisan and factional feeling there is too strong even for the Church to control, and the regulators have not ceased their outrages because of the Archbishop's warning.

The struggle in St. Landry has got beyond the control of the Church or of the officials. Although it is nominally a political contest, and, strange to say, a contest between two Democratic factions, it is really a race war which has been going on for years. The alleged trouble is the contest between the Thompson and Fontenot factions of the Democratic party to control the parish offices. The Thompson faction is led by the clerk of court, comprises a minority of the whites, and most of those known as Americans (that is, Anglo-Saxons), and depends for its success on getting out the negro vote. The Fontenot faction is led by Sneriff Fontenot, consists exclusively of whites, comprising about four-fifths of the whites in the parish, and all the Acadians. They call themselves White Supremacists, and declare that no negro shall register or vote nematics what the consequence. All the difficulties say, occurred, and all the killings have resulted from efforts on the part of the Thompmatter what the consequence. All the diffi-cuities any occurred, and all the killings have resulted from efforts on the part of the Thomp-son faction to get out the aegrees and register them, and on the part of the Fontenot faction real trouble behind all this is the strug

The real trouble behind all this is the struggle that is going on in southwestern Louisiana between the Adadians, the descendants of Longfellow's Evangeline, and the nerro. St. Landry is the headcentre of the Adadians, and Opelousas the Acadian capital of Louisiana. St. Landry is the largest parish of Louisiana, with a population of 60,000, and nine tenths of the white people are Adadians, descending to the unfortunate French settlers of Adadie, or Nova Scotia, driven out by the English a century and a quarter ago. Longfellow has told the story of their wanderings and final settlement on the Teche in Louisiana; but their history since then has remained untold. Settled on the prairies of western Louisiana, far distant from the more civilized sections of the State, they have grown up in an Adadian manner, and are rapidly net, who is named for State Treasurer, is slightly over 40, with fifteen living children, and himself one of a family of sixteen. From the little colony of 3,000, the Acadians have grown in the last century to swer 200,000, and now constitute an important element in the white population of Louisiana. They are looked down upon by the creoies or the old French population of the State, but far outnumber them to-day, and will some day absorb them and swallow them up. From the Teche the Acadians have spread in all directions, invading the creoie and even the American parishes. The negroes have rapidly given away before them, and are being crowned out of southern Louisiana, which has a white n alority and which will be overwhelmingly white in time. The Acadians have no use for the negro, and the national antipathy between the two races is very strong. Poor men themselves, working in the field, largely illiterate, the social feeling is all the more intensified because they are competitors, and because the lines between the two are not very far apart. For some years there has been a movement against the negroes in St. Landry. Those who were in it first called themselves Caucasians; now they style themselves White Supremaists. Their aim is to prevent the negro from voting or having any part in politics, and they will succeed in this at the coming election, but only by great violence and many outrages. A great many of them look further than this and would like to get rid of the negroes altogether and drive them out of the country. This may not be done forcibly, but the blacks are nevertheless being gradually shouldered out of the country to make way for white laborers. The Acadian'is the coming master of southern Louisiana.

George Cable, who has given many pictures of Acadian and creoie, thought the former far more likely to make a good American citizen. He speaks a French jargen dialect, but learns English readily, and seeds to have a fancy for it; and Engliso is now spoken in many rarts of Acadian, where the populatio

Acadia, where the population is almost entirely of French origin.

The St. Landry troubles may be smoothed over somewhat after the election, but not permanently. They will only smoulder to break out again at an early day, for they represent one of these race struggles, so common in Europe, so are in this country. The situation is not that between the planter and the nearoes, but quite the reverse. It is the struggle between two people, both poor, both working for their living, and between whom there is active rivalry and competition. The result is not in doubt. The nearoes will assuredly be crowled out of southern Louisiana.
